

JEFFREY PAWLOWSKI

Libertarian

The New Jersey Libertarian Party is proud of our gubernatorial candidate. Jeff Pawlowski has a history of standing for open, honest government and views his involvement in libertarian politics as an extension of that theme. A resident of New Jersey his entire life, Jeff's experience in the inner workings of local government gave him a real opportunity to study what is wrong with New Jersey politics.

As a husband and father of two daughters, Jeff understands the value of family and personal responsibility. As an Eagle Scout, member of Sacred Heart Church, a member of the Rotary Club, Lions Club, and former member of the South Amboy First Aid squad, Jeff has proven himself to be a vital part of the Sayreville community. As a councilman and planning board member, Jeff grew tired of party politics and squabble. "The old parties spend too much time attacking each other and not enough time attacking the problems our residents face everyday."

Seeing issues mishandled and residents cheated out of honest government, Jeff turned to the Libertarian Party. In our party, Jeff found answers to the problems effecting politics in general. Jeff says, "Perhaps the greatest single problem today with publicly elected officials is a lack of accountability and personal responsibility. Public servants who serve only themselves cripple local and state government."

Jeff believes in a strong, but limited, government that protects and serves it citizens. He will shrink the size of state government. Lower taxes and less government spending will result in a better life for all.

Jeff believes in the second amendment and stands with all law-abiding citizens who own fire arms. He supports a right-to-carry law and the "Castle Doctrine."

Jeff will fight to restore property rights. He will take a stand against Eminent Domain seizures and uncompensated regulatory takings.

Jeff believes that government has no business dictating morality through rules and regulations. He opposes the persecution of sick people because they choose "unapproved" medication, religious people for their choice of sacrament, or any victim seeking help for their personal affliction. Simply put: No victim—No crime.

By taking the same ideas, enthusiasm, and dedication that were tried and true in the state's largest borough, Jeff hopes to make a similar impact statewide. The NJLP has the right candidate and the right point in time to really make a difference in New Jersey. We have the opportunity to shed the image of a corrupted state and start anew. We can leave politics behind and truly make a difference in the lives of New Jersey residents.

New Jersey is ready for an independent honest politician that owes nothing to corrupt party bosses and owes no favors to special interests. Because of his experience, integrity and honesty, Jeff is the ideal candidate to take on the commitment of bringing open, honest, smaller government to New Jersey voters.
